Based on a true story, a film about choice, responsibility and the quiet courage of a few good men.

France, 1942. Collaborating with Nazi Germany, the Vichy Regime issues directives to round up Jews for deportation. In Lyon, hundreds of families are sent to the Vénissieux internment camp. Gilbert Lesage, a civil servant, is put in charge of the commission that will decide their fate. While the police and politicians press to satisfy Vichy, Father Glasberg attempts to protect as many people as possible. Torn between his duty and his convictions, Gilbert soon realizes the game is rigged and the clock is ticking. In one decisive night, Lesage and Glasberg will risk everything to save the children, but at what cost...

Bourgeois playwright Michel fantasizes about an affair between his wife Nina and his bisexual friend Max, unaware they're already lovers. While Nina sees Max, Michel drifts into his own affair. Max introduces Nina to Ric, his anarchist boyfriend, who falls for her and attempts suicide. Nina leaves Michel for Ric but soon returns. Michel then invites Ric into their circle as they continue their amoral games of seduction.
